A GREAT CHANGE ENTERS INTO LIFE OF STOREKEEPER

A certain unassuming gentleman in this city who happens to be a prominent dealer and who up to a few weeks ago had become a recluse because of his physical condition tells this remarkable and most interesting tale:

"For a number of years," he said, "I have been so closely confined to my business working zealously to make my store representative in every respect that wear and tear finally got me, my face became drawn and haggard and my disposition seemed to urge people to evade me. It was then that I began to despise my own company. My bookkeeper who has been with me a long time one day suggested that I needed a rest and that my nerves required attention. She told me that her father had been in the state of health which I was experiencing and that he had taken Phosphated Iron. 'Look at him now,' she said. 'He works ten hours a day and appears to be the happiest man in the world which he believes he is, he says.'"

"All this happened less than a month ago. I followed the advice and look at me now. Back in the harness with a smile all the while. I am feeling more fit than ever. When I see a tired looking face, the name of Phosphated Iron immediately comes in my mind. I am convinced that it is converting many a worn out body into a life rich in thought, ambition and enthusiasm."

Special Notice.—To insure physicians and patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put up in capsules only so do not allow dealers to substitute pills or tablets, insist on the genuine in capsules only. MOST DOGS ARE AFFLICTED WITH RABIES, HE SAYS

Dr. Black Believes Apparently Healthy Dog Can Transmit Disease.

Dr. John T. Black, commissioner of the state board of health, has unveiled a theory which, if it can be substantiated, bids fair to deal a staggering blow to dogs as domestic animals. He has been studying the epidemic of rabies, and he has found there are many of the cases of disease which are so mild that they show no physical symptoms.

These same cases, he had noted, however, are capable of transmitting rabies to other animals or to human beings and the persons or animals who take it from them may develop a virulent type of the disease. It is not possible, he said, that a dog which is nearly all dogs have the disease, that it is something much like tuberculosis with human beings, which practically every person has at some time in his life, but from which the majority recover.

Other veterinarians who have been familiar with the rabies, admit that there are many instances of sporadic outbreaks of the disease which might well be traced to this cause. It is felt that this may be the reason why a dog will contract a violent case of the rabies when no mad dog has been seen or heard of in the community.

The theory is yet to be substantiated. If it can be proved by experiment, that an apparently healthy dog which has Nigri bodies in its brain, can transmit the rabies, by biting, the death knell of the dog will have been sounded. It will be dangerous to have the animal around, as a mere nip from even the most harmless appearing dog will be likely to prove critical.

This theory has been carried further, and the statement has been made that dogs may be carriers for the disease, which will not suffer from it themselves. The point is made that their resistance power may be strong enough to keep the rabies germs from getting the upperhand in their systems, and yet that they will be able, when they bite any person or animal to transmit the disease.

Veterinarians who have heard Dr. Black's theory say that it sounds exceedingly plausible and that if it should be true it would be one of the greatest scientific discoveries of the year. They also say that should it be substantiated, it means no more dogs for pets.

WINE CART GONE

Rome, Sept. 7.—War efficiency has eliminated the gaily decorated and multi-colored cart which since medieval, if not Roman, times has daily brought to the city from the Alban mountains its portion of white and red wines.

These one-horse, two-wheeled vehicles with jangling bells and sleepy drivers hidden under a covering not unlike a buggy top, long familiar to the streets of Rome, will be replaced entirely this fall by an automobile service.

It is reported that the Italian troops have received orders to evacuate Epirus in Greece.

POL'S

The Foolish Factory at Pol's last night turned out munitions of laughter. Big guns of the comedy world burst forth into action and the shrapnel of laughter was scattered over old enemy gloom. Billy Burke as a producer has come to stay for in the Foolish Factory she has involved the best in pretty girls, fun and song. The musical numbers were catchy and frequent. Several comedians were used to keep the bombardment fire in effectiveness.

"To the Death" is a masterful Cornish drama with death at the finish. Olga Petrova, consummate artist that she is portrays the principal part with a depth of emotion in love and hatred that marks her production as one of the most pathetic and realistic in which she has appeared.

"For unalloyed laughter El Brendel and Flo Bert are the leaders. 'Waiting For Her' the name of the sketch is well taken for it begins with a wait and follows all that laughter which such a Victorian piece may produce. The three Larnods are bicycle riders, comic and sensational. All have mastered the art to an extent which involved novelty over their competitors. A pretty girl in several difficult stunts is but one of the many meritorious features of the act.

"Stung" the name of a sketch played by Adra Ainslee and a company of four, is taken from the underworld. It is both laughable and instructive for it shows the wiles of crooks when they meet crooks. Each part is stellar and shows the versatility of those engaged in the acting.

Charles Kelley, a monologist, enters upon his work in the acting, carries his audience through with undivided interest and walks off leaving the audience to hope that he will return.

Pol's show is good and with the always interesting Pathe-News, showing many diverse subjects of great interest in America makes one of the sure-fire sights of Bridgeport for three days.

PLAZA

The Plaza had a large and most appreciative audience at the first performance last evening and what is better is had a corking good program of both vaudeville and movies.

Pipifax and Ranlopo had the headline spot and were probably the headliners, although they were also good that would be hard to award the blue ribbon.

Pipifax and Ranlopo are a couple of knock-about tumblers and there are no better in the realms of variety for they can make you laugh and gasp at the same time and keep you entertained for 15 minutes too. Allan Clifford and Barry, a trio of strikingly beautiful young women who possess uncommon gifts as instrumental soloists, scored an enthusiastic reception that they well deserved.

The New Chaucerian is the title of a comedy skit in one that was put over by a comical pair, by name, Payton and Hickey. One of these handles a character role and he gets some good results from an original line of chatter. Their song numbers helped them greatly.

They did a little of everything from tearing paper and telling stories to playing a harmonica in a manner that brought the house down, with applause. "By Right of Possession" is the feature photograph and it is starred Mary Anderson and Antonio Moreno. The worst that can be said about the play is that it holds you enthralled from the first scene to the last and that it is a credit to its directors.

The eighth episode of "The Fatal Ring" completed the program.

EMPIRE

Vivian Martin, who recently created such a success in "A Kiss for Susie," and "Giving Becky a Chance," two well known Paramount Pictures, is to be seen at the Empire theatre today and tomorrow in one of the cleverest of her most unusual plays, "Little Miss Optimist."

"Little Miss Optimist" was written especially for Miss Martin by Gardner Hunting and was produced under the expert direction of Robert Thornby. Miss Martin scored such a success as the "Bricklayer's" daughter in "A Kiss for Susie" that she is to be seen in his production again as a rather ragged and tattered character.

As "Little Miss Optimist," this time, she is a "news" and known as Mable-Rosie or "Little Miss Optimist" for her wonderful facility of always looking on the bright side of everything. Gardner Hunting has produced in "Little Miss Optimist" a very unusual story, and there are several incidents and situations which have never before been seen upon the screen, and which it is hard to describe.

Miss Martin's leading man in this production is Tom Moore, the clever juvenile who recently scored such a success with Mae Murray in "The Primrose Ring" and with Sessue Hayakawa in "The Jaguar's Claw." Tom Moore is a brother of Owen Moore and has all the histrionic talent of this clever family.

In the cast supporting Vivian Martin for this exceptionally clever picture, are Charles West, Ernest Joy, Charles Gerard, Helen Bray and many others well known to picture fans.

A number of the scenes for "Little Miss Optimist" were taken around the delivery door of a well known morning newspaper, and little Miss Martin had many amusing adventures with the real "newsies" who flocked around to see a "regular" actress, and were amazed to find it was no other than Vivian Martin, a familiar favorite of most of them. This feature is one of the unusual sort all screen fans enjoy.

LYRIC

With every performance of "Mile-A-Minute Kendall" by the Pol Players, headed by Warda Howard and Dudley Ayer, those two stock favorites, the New Lyric theatre and its presentations are gaining new friends. Lovers of stock are again being pleased every afternoon and night by the splendid production of Owen Davis, and hundreds who did not care for stock are being brought into the ranks of steady attendants by the faultless work of the Pol Players.

Happy indeed was S. Z. Pol's selection for the opening week, for this work of Davis' speeds along in zippy style, with plenty of interest to boot. Dainty Elsie Bartlett, ingenue, and Arthur Buchanan, well known to Bridgeporters, are other members of the strong supporting cast that are making a smashing hit at every performance. Next week Manager Arvine has a surprise in store for Bridgeporters. He will present the Pol Players in George Broadhurst's wonderful play, "Rich Man—Poor Man," founded on Maximilian Foster's Saturday Evening Post story. The theme is gripping in its intensity, and yet not in any sense a dull problem play. "Mile-A-Minute Kendall" is enjoying immense popularity and as there are only a few more performances before next week, an early seat reservation is advised.

COLONIAL BALL ROOM

Young people of the city, thousands of them, will be pleased at the announcement that the Saturday evening socials at the Colonial ball room in Fairfield avenue will be resumed for the season Saturday evening with Murray's big orchestra to furnish the music and at the usual popular prices. These socials have become an institution of the city under the management of Prof. D. C. Quilty as they afford clean and wholesome amusement under the best of conditions to those fond of dancing, and with none of the objectionable features which are sometimes found in other places. Parents as well as the young people are invited to attend. During the summer the ball room has been thoroughly renovated and placed in excellent condition for the social activities of the winter. You are cordially invited to attend.—Adv.

SOLDIER AND SAILOR INSURANCE BILL UP TO THE HOUSE TODAY

Washington, Sept. 7.—The administration $176,000,000 soldier and sailor insurance bill was taken up in the house today with the leaders determined to dispose of it as speedily as possible.

Considerable opposition to the bill's optional insurance features, opposed by private insurance companies, is expected, but its passage without material change is expected. Representative Adamson of Georgia,

In charge of the bill, opened the debate with a detailed explanation of its provisions. At President Wilson's request Mr. Adamson will seek to have a $10,000 maximum optional policy, reduced in committee to $5,000, restored to the measure.

F. N. Sproule, a floor trader, and Louis R. Hamersloough, another floor trader, were expelled from the New York Stock Exchange by the governing committee.
